CECIL KING'S PROponents TELL VALUE

Reelection of Cecil E. King, Congressman for the 17th District, is being supported by individuals and groups comprising virtually every segment of the diversified activities of the Greater Los Angeles Harbor and Southwest area, his supporters announced recently. King's unsurpassed record of service to his district and nation through four terms in the House of Representatives and his standing in official Washington circles as one of the best-informed and able legislators in the capitol, makes his value to his district of ever increasing worth. The seniority King has gained enables him to achieve legislative and committee action favorable to those projects he favors for the betterment of his district.

As a member of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, King's work has been outstanding in giving support to the great Merchant Marine and Fishing Industries of Southern California. In addition, King has vigorously supported the program to restore west coast shipbuilding to its deserved level. He fought for and secured additional subsidies for an expanded shipbuilding program.

Reclamation projects, water conservation and power development projects of vital interest to the entire economy of the western states have found King an aggressive supporter. He is chairman of the bipartisan caucus representing the 49 western states. This caucus has been instrumental in the west being able to present a united front to gain for the west the recognition to which its wealth, population and resources entitle it to have.

King has supported all veteran legislation and is now attempting to push forward a program for immediate and adequate housing. He favors a balanced national defense, with proper emphasis on air power and increased scientific research, his supporters stated. He backs the bipartisan foreign policy as exemplified by the Marshall plan and other measures necessary to protect the interests of the United States throughout Western Europe and elsewhere in the world.

Congressman King was chairman of the so-called "box car" investigation last year which was successful in forcing the railroads to divert adequate numbers of freight cars to the Pacific coast and western states, thus protecting local area shippers and giving increased security to employees engaged in western industrial and agricultural callings. He was the prime mover in forcing the restoration of local federal savings and loan groups to their own officers. This impressive record of legislative service has been made by King through intense devotion to his duties and his supporters are confident he will be returned to Congress.
